

NeuroInclusive Learning Network

Terms of Use

---

Effective Date: April 30th, 2026

Last Updated: April 30th, 2026

Welcome to the NeuroInclusive Learning Network ("NILN") website. These Terms of Use ("Terms") govern your access to and use of the NILN website, resources, materials, tools, downloads, event pages, and related online content. By using this website, you agree to these Terms.

If you do not agree with these Terms, please do not use the website.

1. Purpose of the Website

The NeuroInclusive Learning Network website provides information, resources, tools, and learning opportunities related to neuroinclusive practices in informal STEM learning environments, including museums, science centers, libraries, community organizations, and related educational settings.

The website is intended to support learning, reflection, professional practice, and community-building. It is not a substitute for legal, medical, therapeutic, clinical, or individualized professional advice.

2. Respectful Use

NILN is grounded in respect, inclusion, accessibility, and shared learning. When using the website, submitting content, attending events, or interacting with NILN spaces, you agree not to:

- Harass, threaten, demean, or discriminate against others.
- Submit false, misleading, harmful, or unlawful content.
- Use the website to violate another person's privacy.
- Upload malware, spam, or disruptive code.
- Attempt to gain unauthorized access to the website or related systems.
- Copy, sell, or misuse NILN materials in a way that violates these Terms.
- Use NILN resources in a way that misrepresents the project, its partners, or its purpose.

We may limit or remove access to website features, events, or community spaces if these expectations are violated.

3. Intellectual Property

Unless otherwise stated, the content on this website, including text, graphics, tools, publications, handouts, logos, designs, and downloadable materials, is owned by or licensed to NILN, Institute for Learning Innovation, or project partners.

You may use NILN materials for personal, educational, nonprofit, or professional learning purposes, provided that you:

- Keep attribution to NILN and any named authors or partners.
- Do not alter materials in a misleading way.
- Do not sell NILN materials.
- Do not imply NILN endorsement without written permission.
- Follow any additional license terms listed on specific resources.

Requests for permission to reproduce, adapt, or distribute materials beyond these uses may be sent to support@neuroinclusivelearningnetwork.com.

4. Resource Use and Attribution

NILN resources are designed to support inclusive practice, but they are not one-size-fits-all instructions. Users are responsible for adapting materials thoughtfully to their own communities, institutions, visitors, staff, and program contexts.

When sharing or referencing NILN materials, please credit: NeuroInclusive Learning Network, Institute for Learning Innovation, 2026.

Some resources may include separate attribution requirements, funder acknowledgments, partner credits, or usage restrictions. Please follow the instructions provided with each resource.

5. No Professional or Medical Advice

The website may discuss autism, disability inclusion, accessibility, informal STEM learning, visitor experience, program design, and organizational practice. This information is provided for general educational purposes only.

NILN does not provide medical, diagnostic, therapeutic, legal, or individualized professional advice. Visitors, families, organizations, and professionals should consult qualified experts when making decisions that require professional judgment, legal compliance, clinical guidance, or individualized support.

6. Accessibility and Inclusion

We aim to provide accessible, respectful, and useful materials. However, inclusion is an ongoing practice rather than a finished checklist. NILN resources may need to be adapted based on community context, visitor needs, organizational capacity, and local requirements.

If you encounter an accessibility barrier on the website or in a resource, please contact support@neuroinclusivelearningnetwork.com.

7. User Submissions

You may have opportunities to submit comments, questions, feedback, stories, examples, survey responses, or other content. By submitting content, you confirm that:

- You have the right to submit it.
- It does not violate another person's rights or privacy.
- It is not unlawful, harmful, defamatory, or discriminatory.
- You understand that NILN may review, use, summarize, or respond to the submission for the purpose for which it was provided.

We may remove or decline to publish user-submitted content at our discretion.

If you submit a quote, testimonial, story, photo, or video for public use, we will seek permission before using identifiable materials in public-facing communications.

8. Events, Trainings, and Communities of Practice

NILN may offer webinars, meetings, trainings, workshops, communities of practice, or other events. Participation may be subject to additional expectations, registration terms, accessibility processes, consent forms, or community agreements.

We reserve the right to modify, postpone, cancel, or limit participation in events when necessary.

9. Third-Party Links and Tools

The website may include links to third-party websites, partner organizations, registration platforms, video services, publications, or tools. These links are provided for convenience and learning.

NILN does not control and is not responsible for third-party websites, including their content, privacy practices, accessibility, accuracy, availability, or terms. Use of third-party sites is at your own discretion.

10. Accuracy of Information

We work to provide accurate and useful information, but we do not guarantee that all content is complete, current, error-free, or appropriate for every setting. Website content may be updated, revised, or removed at any time.

Users are responsible for evaluating how NILN resources apply to their own programs, institutions, communities, and legal or policy requirements.

11. Disclaimer of Warranties

The website and its content are provided "as is" and "as available." To the fullest extent permitted by law, NILN and [Sponsoring Organization Name] disclaim all warranties, express or implied, including warranties of accuracy, reliability, fitness for a particular purpose, non-infringement, and availability.

12. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted by law, NILN, Institute for Learning Innovation, project partners, funders, staff, contractors, and contributors are not liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, consequential, special, or punitive damages arising from your use of the website, resources, events, or linked third-party content.

This includes, but is not limited to, damages related to errors, omissions, interruptions, accessibility issues, loss of data, reliance on content, or use of third-party websites.

13. Indemnification

You agree to hold harmless NILN, Institute for Learning Innovation, project partners, funders, staff, contractors, and contributors from claims, damages, losses, liabilities, or expenses arising from your misuse of the website, violation of these Terms, or infringement of another person's rights.

14. Changes to the Website or Terms

We may update the website, resources, or these Terms at any time. When we update these Terms, we will revise the Last Updated date above. Continued use of the website after changes are posted means you accept the updated Terms.

15. Governing Law

These Terms are governed by the laws of the State of Oregon, without regard to conflict of law principles. Any disputes will be handled in the appropriate courts or forums located in Oregon, unless otherwise required by law.

16. Contact Us

For questions about these Terms, permissions, accessibility, or use of NILN materials, contact:

NeuroInclusive Learning Network

Institute for Learning

support@neuroinclusivelearningnetwork.com